MRS. ISABELLA ROSEBERRY

Principal honored

"Thank goodness you cared enough to provide the concern and the discipline we needed."

So spoke an ex-student, representing many, when Mrs. Isabella Roseberry was honored as a teacher, administrator and friend at a dinner held in St. Mark's Parish Centre, Prescott, on Saturday evening, May 29. Chairman David Downing, a senior member of the teaching staff at Maynard Senior Public School where Mrs. Roseberry is principal, capably presided over the program, following a dinner attended by some 140 co-workers, parents, ex-students and friends.

Head table guests with Mr. and Mrs. Roseberry included Dennis Deacon, Supt. of Education, representing the Executive Council of Leeds & Grenville County Board of Education; George Brown, Chairman of the Board, and Mrs. Brown; Norman Mackey, last chairman of Augusta Township School Area Board, and Mrs. Mackey; David Cowtan, vice-principal of Maynard S.P.S. and Mrs. Cowtan, and Mr. and Mrs. David Downing.

Mr. Deacon brought congratulations and good wishes from the Director of Education and Executive Council. Mr. Brown noted that Teacher's College graduates continually come to him to use his influence in getting positions on the Maynard staff, a tribute to Mrs. Roseberry and her school.

Mr. Mackey praised her judgment as an administrator, a fact evidenced when the Augusta Board had placed her in its most senior position. Harry Beckstead, principal of Boundary Street School, Prescott, and Chairman of the Elementary School Principals' Association, said that her experience and ability to make decisions will be greatly missed in their deliberations.

W. Harold Knisley, now Supt.

of Education with the Huron County Board, who worked closely with Mrs. Roseberry while Inspector of Public Schools in Grenville, was high in his praise of her capabilities as shown when the present Senior Public School at Maynard was being planned, and in setting up classes in this first-of-its-kind in the area.

Representing hundreds of ex-students, Marla Skelhorne, Judith Anne Armstrong, and Edmund Stone, agreed that the quality of education and disciplines learned in Maynard had served them well as they went on to higher education. The principal's concern for the individual, and her refusal to lower standards are well-known and highly respected. Jim Freemantle, grade 7, spoke for the present student body, wishing Mrs. Roseberry happiness in retirement.

Roger Hardy, representing the staff of 29 presently working with her, strongly denied the rumor that Mrs. Roseberry never leaves the school Monday through Friday, but her devotion is well-established. It takes a major catastrophe to keep her away from her duties, and her insistence on a high professional standard for her staff as well as the best training a young teacher can get.

Bill Cornell, Chairman of the School Committee, recalled her co-operation with that group, and as a parent, wished her well in retirement.

Mrs. Bertha Wilson, a co-worker for 15 years, who is also retiring this year, on behalf of the staff, presented Mrs. Roseberry with a Book of Memories, going back to Ottawa Normal School in 1927, tracing in pictures and story her career in education.

David Cowtan, vice-principal, and Mrs. Marion Stone, presented the major gift of the assembled guests, a mahogany jewel case with sterling silver pin, earrings and bracelet, suitable engraved, along with a substantial purse of money.

Mrs. Roseberry, given a standing ovation when she rose to reply, was visibly moved by the adulation, thanked all for the good wishes and gifts. She was firm in her opinion that Maynard Senior Public School was the best in Eastern Ontario, and her staff second to none. She gave credit to the Augusta Township School Area Board members and Mr. Knisley for the fact that the area had a school of such high calibre.

Former members of this Board called to share the spotlight were Eldon Francis, Byron Bennett, Locke Matthie and Willard Shannon.

Grace before the meal was by Locke Matthie, and Eldon Francis provided organ music during the social time before and following the meal. Courtesies were extended by Mr. Downing to him, to the CWL which catered, and to the committees responsible for arrangements for the very successful evening.

Bereans Holding "Open House" Friday Evening

The former St. Mary's College is now a hive of diversified activity under its new owner, the Berean Christian Fellowship.

Marking its entry into the life of the Brockville area, the evangelical group which now controls the big estate on No. 2 highway between Brockville and Maitland, is holding its first official "open house" on Friday evening.

"We would like all of the people of Brockville to visit us on the evening of Friday, December 12, for our "open house", said Dr. Alistar Haig, director of the Brockville Fellowship.

"We have planned an evening of refreshments, music and drama, as well as a tour of our buildings," he went on.

The former United Church minister said the doors will be thrown open at 7:30 p.m. and that Mrs. Pacitti of the music staff, in charge of the program, has promised an interesting evening of entertainment by the music and drama departments.

MacDonnell Hall, named in honor of the first Roman Catholic Bishop of Upper Canada, will be the scene of the program.

The Berean Christian Schools opened in September with about 130 students. Its educational activities involve a pre-school program for ages two to five years and the regular elementary and high school program. The International Life Corps is an intensive three-year post-high school training college for young people whose lives will be given in the service of mankind.

The Berean establishment in Brockville is the first in Canada. The movement started as a Bible-reading group of eight in the home of the founder, Warren Litzman, in Texas, six years ago. Four years later, growth had been so rapid and support so strengthening that the Fellowship was able to move to a $3,000,000 complex in Dallas.

Based on the principle of meeting human need, the Fellowship now operates centres in Seattle, Washington; Atlanta, Georgia; Vallejo, California; and in Jamaica, Mexico, India and Korea.

In addition to the educational facilities at the local establishment, the Fellowship, working on the basis that every centre must be self-supporting, is conducting several profit
